Organizers say 'scare tactics' are out Millage effort to be 'low-key'

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Romulus millage campaign organizers are planning a low-key effort that will emphasize the positive aspects of education in the community. Joel Carr, principal of Romulus High School and Norene DePalma, head of a "Promote Our Schools" millage committee indicated they would not engage in the "scare tactics" associated with millage campaigns in other communities.

"As far as I'm concerned, we have an excellent educational program in Romulus which has been improving over the years," said Carr. "We're asking for the millage in Romulus to maintain that record of improvement."

Voters will be faced with two issues, a 10-mill renewal and a 5-mill increase.

The renewal is for 10 years while the millage hike would be for four years.

According to Carr, the renewal would maintain the same 27.65 operating millage citizens have paid in the past. The 5-mill increase is needed, however, because the same 27.65 levy does not raise the same amount of money this year as it did last year.

"We're caught in a bind because of the new single business tax law

'It's our goal to ensure that we have a positive campaign...'

--Norene DePalma

which reduces the "worth" of millage levied in the district," Carr said. Whereas in the past, the worth of the community would increase each year, resulting in an increase in the amount of money the same levy would raise, that amount dropped this year.

Carr estimates that the same 27.65 levy will raise $700,000 less for school operations in fiscal 1976-77 than during fiscal 1975-76.

The 5-mill increase request would cover the loss of tax money and compensate in part for rising costs, according to the district's campaign coordinator.

Mrs. DePalma said that her interest in the millage is through involvement in the district's citizens' task force which has been assigned to find the means to finance the schools next year.

"I learned through our study that the money is needed," Mrs. DePalma said. "I'm proud of the education offered in Romulus, and believe the taxes should be kept at a level to maintain the program."

"I don't like higher taxes either, but I'm willing to pay them to maintain education for my children and the other children in the community."

Mrs. DePalma said that citizens need not expect any campaign work on the millage until approximately two weeks before the June 14 election.

"It's our goal to ensure that we have a positive campaign, emphasizing the good that can be maintained by approving the millage," Mrs. DePalma said. "There needn't be the scare tactics of other communities' campaigns to get the concerned voters to the polls."

Carr said the strong points of Romulus' educational system are the extra curricular programs, such as music. Students in this program have won high honors in state competition.

In addition, the elementary school career education program is "one of the pioneer programs of its type in the state and serves as a model for other programs in surrounding districts," according to Carr.

"We have much to be proud of in Romulus, and want to continue that record," Carr said. "But just like everything else, it takes money to finance programs."

Lack facilities

Handicapped seek permanent home

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Organizers of the only city program for mentally handicapped youngsters in Romulus is seeking a permanent home.

Geneva Clark, organizer of the Eager Beavers, a group of handicapped youngsters in Romulus, is hoping to find a building in the community which is suitable for the enrichment programs she has supervised for better than 20 youngsters during the past four years.

"We have a void of activities for these youngsters after school hours and during the summertime because of a lack of facilities," Mrs. Clark said. "And yet, these children need the encouragement and the opportunity to work at their skills more than most youngsters."

The Eager Beavers consist of mentally handicapped youngsters aged three to 25 years. They gather weekly to engage in various arts and crafts and educational improvement activities.

But, the gatherings have been at various locations in the community, most recently the Romulus Civic League. Now Mrs. Clark is hoping to find a permanent "home" for the youngsters.

"There are no organized recreational activities for these very special people," Mrs. Clark said. "I'm hoping by obtaining the space, we can improve on that situation."

Mrs. Clark envisions a program such as the one operated by the Western Wayne County Association for Retarded Children, which provides recreational as well as employment opportunities for youngsters in the Wayne-Westland-Inkster area.

"The Eager Beavers are capable of making home-made baked goods, and it would be nice to have the facilities for them to sell those goods," Mrs. Clark said. "I'd like to see us build a building in a central location where the community with utilities available for a stove and refrigerator, space for dining and work areas, and toilet facilities."

"It's important to these youngsters, and I think to this community."

Mrs. Clark said she would rather have a building donated to the group, but indicated that the Eager Beavers would manage in some way to cover the cost of utilities.

"I'm not going to rule out any opportunity," she said. "It may be there's a home suitable for our programs, or there may be a larger building available."

"But I'd like the offers to come first, and then make a decision. "Romulus residents have always been good to us, and I'd like to ask their help one more time."

Industry common factor as leaders change places

Industry was the common bond Monday when officials of Romulus and Albion exchanged places during the annual Michigan Week Mayor's Exchange Day.

Charles Jones, mayor of Albion, switched places with his counterpart in Romulus, James C. Stewart, to exchange views on how highly industrial communities such as Romulus and Albion, although located in a largely rural setting of southcentral Michigan, cope with their problems.

Jones, along with Councilman Joseph Benavidez, Clerk-Treasurer Millard Coleman and Planning Director Gerald Peeler toured Romulus, making a special stop at the Detroit Diesel Allison Division parts manufacturing facility on Ecorse Road.

Romulus Clerk Leonard Folmar, official host for the day, explained to Jones and the other officials how Romulus was one of the first communities in Michigan to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the Michigan Legislature in 1973 to lure industry into the community. The incentive was a 50-percent tax break on new manufacturing buildings over the next 10 years.

Romulus was rewarded with a "first installment" of a $100 million manufacturing plant, and will eventually realize an investment of better than $350 million when the entire Diesel complex is developed on better than 300 acres.

Although both communities have their differences, there are strong similarities.

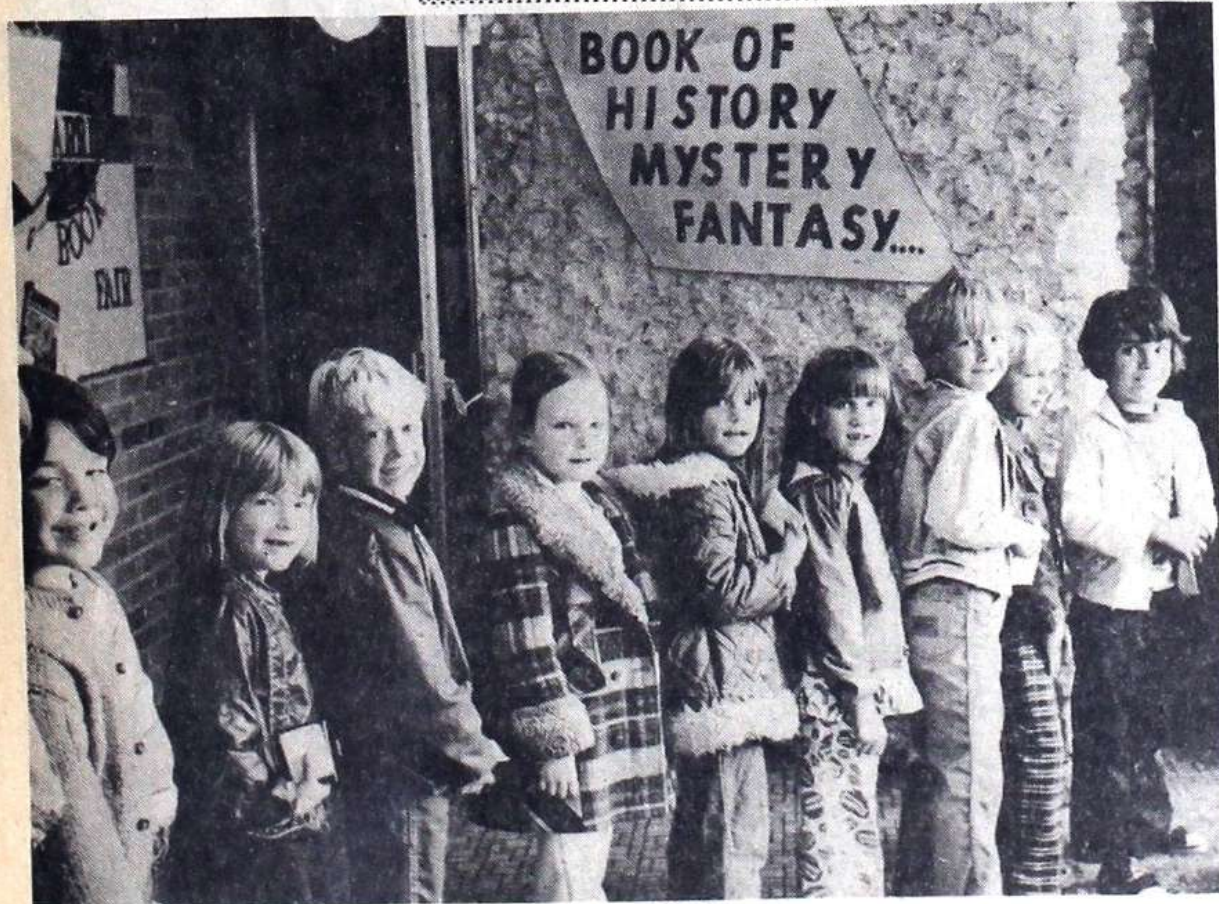

Romulus, while it could become the heart of industry in Michigan, also has a good-sized farming community at its southern reaches.

And although it is surrounded by farming areas, Albion has its own industrial capability.

Jones is employed as personnel manager of the Union Steel Products near Albion and has served as a councilman from the city's first precinct for eight years.

He has served as chairman of Albion's Human Relations Commission, Labor Relations Board, Recreation Board, City-School and City-College Commission, and is presently serving as a member of the City Planning Commission and Board of Review.

A former student at Howard University in Washington, D. C., Jones is married and the father of two children.

Following the 'yellow book road'

Students at Romulus' Harrison Elementary School are ready to begin a tour of the "yellow book road" as part of the school's book fair held last week. Students not only studied careers in book publishing, but also wrote their own books and displayed them as part of the school project. Every student from kindergarten to the sixth grade participated in the program. See story on Page A-3. — Romulus Roman photo.

Panax head gets honorary degree

NMU cites McGoff as 'leader in business'

Cited as a "leader in the world of business, journalist, educator and unstinting friend of education," Panax Corp. President John P. McGoff last Saturday was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree from Northern Michigan University (NMU), where he once served as chairman of the Board of Control.

Washtenaw College to host sex discrimination workshop

The Washtenaw County Community College Ypsilanti branch office will be the site of a 1-day workshop, entitled "Challenging Sex Discrimination in Education" for educators.

To be held Saturday, the workshop will be conducted by Dr. Sara Ann Lincoln.

Through the workshop, participants will be taught to recognize forms of sex discrimination through the study of sex role stereotypes, the effects of sex bias due to stereotypes and career choices and achievements for both men and women.

The goal of the workshop will be to offer teachers, counselors and parents means to identify even the most subtle forms of discrimination and ideas on how to counteract them.

"Rather than simply following tradition, schools should take the lead in preparing all people for fuller use of their human potential," said Dr. Lincoln prior to the workshop.

"Women's lives are changing. Ninety-five percent of all girls now in high school will work outside the home at some time in their lives."

"The educational community needs to prepare both men and women for the expanding roles now available to them."

According to Dr. Lincoln, sex discrimination in education, in social institutions and in the media has serious consequences, often resulting in limited aspirations for both men and women and lower salaries for women.

In addition, women suffer restrictions on credit, property ownership and legal rights.

The "Challenging Sex Discrimination in Education" workshop is scheduled to run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday at the Ypsilanti Center.

Registration for the program is $5 and advanced registration is requested.

Information on the program can be obtained by calling 482-2230.

Building increase charted

The Romulus Building Department has reported a nearly $1 million building month during April.

According to Edward D. Fall, director of the building department, the city recorded better than $500,000 in residential construction and added more than $400,000 in industrial and commercial construction during the month.

Included in the totals released by the department were some $521,000 in additions and alterations to homes and one new $21,000 structure.

Also included is one $100,000 industrial building and one $48,000 paving job under the commercial-industrial tallies.

The new building is a temporary warehouse structure on Brandt Road between Ecorse and Beverly roads construction by Leon F. Verduynde Inc.

McGoff's citation noted that Panax Newspapers are read by a million Michigan citizens each week.

"A man dedicated to his family, his church and his nation for which he bore arms in time of war, he embodies the traditional values of diligence, honesty, fair play and love of country," the citation stated.

At a luncheon for about 300 guests, following spring commencement ceremonies, McGoff, a charter member of the NMU Board of Control and its president from 1969 through 1971, returned the compliment to the university.

He said NMU is "one of the great universities of this state, certainly the leader of higher education in the Upper Peninsula."

"This is a very happy day for us," he told the guests, including two other honorary doctorate recipients — General Motors President Pete Estes and Yale University literary scholar Maynard Mack.

"I am at first grateful that I'm an American," the Panax president said, adding that although some freedoms are eroding, "this still is the land of the free, and I think we're going back to the home of the brave."

"The Upper Peninsula is a part of me," he said. McGoff noted that he first saw the U.P. 30 years ago when he was a student at Michigan State University.

"I recognized the free spirit, friendliness and rugged individualism of the people in this part of the state," he added, saying that since acquiring The Mining Journal, Iron Mountain News and Escanaba Press, he really is a part of the Upper Peninsula.

"I'm here with you forever," he told the gathering.

McGoff said education must continue to be a part of a free society.

"We as businessmen are concerned about the attitude of young and old alike about business," he continued. "I firmly believe that the free enterprise system is the only system that can bring people the freedom they want."

McGoff, who lives in the Lansing suburb of Williamston, founded Panax in 1959. Its holding include seven daily newspapers, and 34 weeklies in Michigan, Illinois and Florida and printing plants in three states.

He also is president of Global Communications, which publishes the Sacramento (Calif.) Union and several weekly newspaper groups and operates United Press International-Television News.

Saturday he acknowledged that the fourth estate has shortcomings in the society.

"We, as a profession, must admit that we always don't do the right thing, always don't say the right thing," McGoff said. "But sometimes we have the courage to say the right thing."

At the luncheon McGoff, Estes and Mack received specially inscribed NMU medallions from University President John Jamrich.

State treasurers' group takes stand against bills

The newly-formed Michigan State Treasurers' Association, consisting mainly of treasurers for communities in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, has taken three stands against bills pending before the Michigan State Legislature.

The treasurer's group will be speaking out against the recently-proposed tax base sharing proposal, placed before the Michigan House of Representatives by Rep. Philip O. Mastin (D-Hazel Park).

The bill would pool 50 percent of any new industrial or commercial tax base into a region-wide "sharing area" with the tax base from new developments being spread throughout communities in the sharing area.

According to Ralph Hedman, legislative liaison for the treasurer's group, the organization fears that the plan is designed to give Detroit a badly-needed tax base boost.

The treasurers' group also is opposed to a bill before the Legislature proposed by State Sen. David E. Plawewski (D-12th District) which would increase the "property transfer tax" in real estate transactions by as much as 500 percent. The bill has been opposed at the local level, particularly in Van Buren Township, because it places an undue burden on buyers of property, and could discourage development of open areas.

The third proposal opposed by the treasurers' group is a group of amendments to the general property tax act which would increase the number of property tax billings in the Michigan communities from one each year for community millage and one each year for county and school taxes to four times each year for each collection.

According to the Van Buren Township Treasurer's Department, it costs some $8,000 yearly for the township to bill residents just once for township and county taxes and the four billings required would quadruple the costs in townships, and increase costs by as much as eight times in communities with two separate collection periods.

The treasurer's group, whose core is the 40 communities involved in the Wayne County Treasurer's Association, has elected Al Liebert of Pontiac as president, Joe McClosky of Roseville as vice-president, Frank E. Lubienski of Dearborn Heights as treasurer and membership chairman and Jim Martin as secretary.

Firm wins honor Beautification work pays off

The efforts of one Van Buren Township business to improve the aesthetic appearance of its operation has earned a Belleville club a $1,500 grant to promote beautification programs in the community.

The Women's Study Club of Belleville, with Mrs. Donald White as president, was the recipient of a $1,500 cash award from the General Federation of Women's Clubs, for successfully nominating the Huron Valley Steel Corp. of Van Buren Township as one of the most outstanding examples of businesses' efforts to improve their appearance in the nation.

The general federation gave Huron Valley Steel a second-place award in the 1976 Business for Beauty Program for the steel reclamation project's successful effort to turn what had been a scrap yard into an area pleasing to the sight of passers-by.

Huron Valley Steel has been improving the appearance of its property for the past three years, erecting earthen walls around a steel reclamation yard and landscaping the area to disguise what had been a nuisance to both persons who lived near the operation and passers-by.

The first-place winner in the competition was a Kentucky banking firm which turned an abandoned gasoline station into a banking facility.

Third-place went to a pharmacy which renovated a 76-year-old building in Ohio.

Robert C. Moore, vice-president, public affairs for Cities Service Co., one of the awards programs co-sponsors, gave John Sequin, vice president and manager of Huron Valley Steel, the award for the company's efforts to improve its appearances.

At the ceremonies, Moore said that better than 14,000 businesses throughout the United States have been recognized for their efforts to improve the appearance of their communities. However, Huron Valley Steel is one of 18 businesses recognized for the highest honors during the 6-year-old program.

New car dealership is Van Buren boost

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of The Enterprise-Roman Staff

A long-time Belleville area business, under new ownership, is bringing a new boost to Van Buren Township.

The Elden Chevrolet dealership, which was located at the site of one of Belleville's oldest car dealer businesses, has been moved to a new and larger site in Van Buren Township.

Located on the I-94 North Service Drive between Belleville and Morton-Taylor roads, the Elden dealership is located in a building four-times the size of the building it occupied in Belleville's East Huron River Drive business area.

According to John Bowman, the dealership's owner: "We made a pledge to Chevrolet that when the dealership was obtained, it would be expanded.

"Our best bet was the site in Van Buren Township, where we have more land and serve the same clients as in the past."

The Elden Chevrolet business was the former Heininger Chevrolet of Belleville which has a 50-year tradition of serving Belleville-area residents.

"With the new location, we're able to offer a more diversified service to our customers, simply by having a larger building and more land," Bowman explained. "We have two times the number of hoists for repairs as in the past and can do front-end alignments.

"In addition, we do warranty paint work at the dealership, instead of sending vehicles out.

"And the added space for storage offers our customers a more diversified 'on hand' selection of vehicles, making it more possible that a car which suits their tastes will be available to them immediately."

Bowman said the expansion has enabled the dealership to do three

'We've done everything possible to make the facilities at the dealership suitable for the customer.' — John Bowman times the repair work as in the past and offers customers with minor warranty inspections and repairs a chance to wait for their vehicles, instead of forcing them to make appointments for the labor.

"We've got $100,000 in new equipment so we're more able to meet any repair needs than in the past," Bowman added. "And on the new-car side, we've got more display space for the customers."

Bowman said the former dealership had little space for expansion at a time when Chevrolet required dealerships to have more space for selling automobiles.

"As an example, the size of our present used car offices is the size we had to work with for all new and used car transactions and the showroom in the old building,"

Bowman continued. "It was a difficult situation which Chevrolet wanted corrected."

Bowman is enthused about opening what he says is "the newest dealership for Chevrolet in Michigan" and indicates he is hoping the combination of new modern facilities with the long-established tradition of fair business dealings will serve his customers well.

"We've done everything possible to make the facilities at the dealership suitable for the customer," Bowman said. "In addition, we have the kind of staff that is willing to help meet the customer's needs.

"We'd like to invite the residents of the area to stop by and check us out."

They write own material

Students explore careers in books

The nearly 500 students at Romulus' Harrison Elementary School combined their interests in writing with exploring career possibilities to work on "books" about careers.

The students culminated a 2-day book fair last week which featured presentations by each class in the kindergarten through sixth-grade elementary set-up on the many careers now available to average job seekers.

"Books" on various adult careers were written, edited and printed by students in a combined work-study opportunity which not only helped children explore various job possibilities open to them but also to give them a better understanding of what goes into book production.

Student Robin Carter ended up with the best effort in a book which won school and state honors and was entered in national competition for its excellence.

According to a teacher at the school, all 16 faculty members and all 466 students at the school participated in the fair, organized around the theme "Follow the Yellow Book Road."

Students not only had the opportunity to show their writing skills, but also were given the opportunity by the Harrison PTA to purchase reading matter for the summer at nominal prices.

Centered on the theme was a "path" of books on the floor of the school which lead students throughout the various displays.

Centerpiece for the theme was a giant "book float" featuring carnations made by students in their spare time.

Students walked through the "book float" to get to the various individual displays.

According to teacher Joan Olszewski, the educational concept behind the fair was teaching students about careers and to build their self-awareness as they worked.

Work on the entire project began just after the Christmas vacation and was culminated during the May 10-11 event.

"The students did such a fine job, it's too bad that the people of the community didn't have a chance to see it," Mrs. Olszewski said. "We're proud of what they accomplished and think it would have made the parents proud of the same, if they were able to view it."

Seniors receive diplomas

Four area residents were among the 34 senior citizens who received their high school diplomas through the Huron School District's Senior Citizens Project.

Included in the list are Juanita M. Akers, Harold J. Higgins and Phyllis M. Higgins who studied at the Huron schools' Belleville Center in the First United Methodist Church, and Lillian M. Williams who studied at the New Boston Center.

The students received their diplomas May 8.

Students' ages vary from 53 years to 84 years.

Dante DiVitto, director of the Wayne County Office on Aging addressed the graduates at the Hannan Road Elementary School.

Dr. Theos Anderson, principal of Huron High School, and James Pershing, president of the Huron Board of Education, gave out the diplomas during the ceremonies.

Minister gains accreditation

The Rev. David E. Lee of the Trinity Episcopal Church in Belleville recently gained accreditation as a member of the International Transactional Analysis Association.

The Rev. Lee attended twice-monthly training sessions over a 2-year period to gain accreditation as a Clinical Member of the association.

Transactional Analysis is a system of theories and practical techniques for psychotherapy, begun in the 1950s by Dr. Eric Berne. It became popular following the publication of such books as "I'm Ok, You're Ok" by Dr. Thomas A. Harris, and "Games People Play" by Dr. Berne.

Transactional Analysis is widely used by psychiatrists, counselors and clergy for individual, marriage and family counseling. With his accreditation, The Rev.

Lee became a staff member of the Metropolitan Transactional Analysis and Gestalt Institute with offices in Southfield and Ann Arbor.

Concern over friend leads to center for brain damaged

By NANCY CAIN
Panax News Service

Eight years ago Bob was working on a construction site when he fell and hit his head. The injury resulted in permanent brain damage. Since his accident, Bob, now 23, has been unemployed, unable to do many things he used to do quite easily, and has spent time in foster homes.

A family friend concerned over Bob's future, Rev. Richard Dunn, of the First Congregational Church of Almont, in Lapeer County, began contacting individuals who were interested in helping brain damaged persons learn to live independently as much as they can and to help families of persons with brain damage understand what has happened and what they can do to help.

The group, with temporary headquarters in Troy, grew to nine members and in 1974, incorporated as "Centers for Brain Damaged Persons." Presently, Dr. Carla Cook, 38, a member of the therapeutic radiology department at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, acts as head of the group.

Other members of the group include Rev. Dunn, several doctors, businessmen, engineers and two members who have brain damaged relatives. The group varies in age and geographic location, but their common goal is to help persons with brain damage in the Detroit metropolitan area.

"Until now, persons with this type of damage have been largely ignored," Dr. Cook said. "Because records aren't kept and many cases may not be recorded, we really have no idea how many persons with brain damage are in this area."

The group is concerned with "acquired" brain damage, that is, persons who were born "normal" but through accident, illness, drug or alcohol abuse have suffered permanent brain damage.

"What we're finding is that many of these persons are young adults who were quite active, but who were injured in accidents, usually sports-related activities such as skiing," Dr. Cook added.

"Following an injury, the first question is 'will he live?' Then the question of brain damage comes up — what kind, how severe, how long. Many problems come out in later months, even years after an accident," Dr. Cook said.

As far as the group knows, it is the first such group in the United States. Presently they are focusing attention on the Detroit area, but they hope other groups will pick up their interest and start nation-wide projects for brain damaged persons.

"We've been in contact with many agencies both in Michigan and Washington," Dr. Cook added. "We've talked with special education departments, the department of social services, National Institute of Mental Health, groups studying the after-effects of a stroke, and many other related organizations."

One board member, whose 17-year old son was permanently brain damaged in a skiing accident, would like to see centers where the individual can go to improve as much as possible.

"I'd also like to see someplace where the families affected can go for guidance, to learn how to cope with all the problems," he said. "I remember after my son's accident, none of his friends ever came over to the house again. No one wanted to be with him. A family needs guidance on how to best approach things."

Dr. Cook and other members of Centers would like to see counseling available for both patient and families. The group is not related to Henry Ford Hospital, but some sort of center should be open for individuals, they feel.

"At this time, we're limited in scope due to our small human resources and funds," Dr. Cook said. "We're applying for a tax exemption, and until we get it, we aren't asking for any contributions."

The group relies on seed money from the First Congregational Church of Almont — money collected from people who are concerned about Bob and his future.

The group is asking anyone with brain damaged relatives to write for a questionnaire.

"As soon as we get some feedback from area residents," Dr. Cook explained, "we'll know what our next step will be."

The group's address is P.O. Box 782, Troy, Mich., 48064.

Clear policy on Eastern Europe sought

WASHINGTON—Is the United States, in a mood of pessimism and in the name of a spurious realism, willing to accept perpetual domination of half of Europe by the Soviet Union?

Responsible officials flatly deny such a radical change in American foreign policy is in the wind. Yet a series of recent events going back to a year ago can be read this way: Since the Soviet Union clearly has the military power to keep a tight hold on Eastern Europe the United States should recognize the inevitability of this situation in the interest of world stability and peace.

This sounds like the Iron Curtain, so far as Washington is concerned, has clanged down forever on Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and East Germany, not to mention the Ukraine and the Baltic States, where the longing for independence from Moscow still flickers.

Since World War II it has been widely assumed that ultimately the Soviet Satellites would gain their freedom and rejoin the rest of the family of nations. In the early post-war period when the late John Foster Dulles was secretary of state it was thought possible the United States might openly intervene to free one or all of the satellites.

That never happened, and it would be hard to find many responsible people in Washington anxious to return to the more frigid aspects of Dulles's cold war policies.

By the same token there would not be many Americans willing to concede Russia the unlimited right to maintain the status quo in Eastern Europe.

Conflicting statements have piled on top of each other recently regarding the main conception governing United States policy toward the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.

The State Department now says it favors more autonomy for countries beyond the Iron Curtain rather than tighter Soviet control. But still the doubts persist.

To clear up the confusion once and for all Rep. James G. O'Hara (D-Mich.) wants a full dress congressional investigation of the subject. He has received an informal assurance from Rep. Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.) that such a probe probably will be undertaken by Morgan's House International Relations Committee.

If it is true as reported that the State Department has accepted the idea of Soviet domination of all of Eastern Europe, this mode of thinking represents "an outrageous and terrible misguided" policy decision, O'Hara said.

In a letter to Morgan, the Michigan congressman noted the State Department had denied the accuracy of the report. But O'Hara added, "There has been no clear and unequivocal repudiation of the underlying concept of American acquiescence in continued Soviet domination" of Eastern Europe.

If on investigation the report proves to be accurate, this will reflect the inability or unwillingness of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger "to assert the tremendous moral and political qualities of the west," which in the 30 years since World War II have provided the people in the captive nations with hope, O'Hara said.

O'Hara is campaigning to win election to the U.S. Senate this year. Obviously a plea in behalf of Eastern Europeans is bound to win favor in the metropolitan Detroit area with its concentration of ethnic groups.

An aide insisted that O'Hara, far from using this issue as a domestic political gimmick, felt this matter was of great importance that needed to be cleared up now. The same source pointed out that even among the Communists in the satellite countries there were attempts to loosen Moscow's iron grip. A change of American policy would undercut the efforts of those people.

The issue already has become something of a political football on the national political scene. Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan has blasted the Ford Administration's defense and foreign policies and accused Kissinger, in particular, of "showing a lack of faith in the American people."

Reagan keeps insisting that the American public will support greater military spending and firmer posture toward the Soviet Union if President Ford and Kissinger provide the proper leadership.

Ford for his part sharply disagreed with Reagan, his rival for the Republican presidential nomination. Conversing with a group of Michigan businessmen in the White House rose garden recently, Ford defended Kissinger's record without qualification and said:

"I think he is one of the greatest secretaries of state in the history of the United States. I challenge anyone to say that we haven't been successful."

Uneasiness about American policy toward Eastern Europe first surfaced last year with the negotiation of the Helsinki Treaty designed to ease tensions in Europe. Critics of the pact said it gave an aura of permanence and legitimacy to existing boundaries in Eastern Europe imposed in the first place by Red Army troops in World War II.

Then came a secret policy briefing of U.S. ambassadors in London last December. According to the original leaks from that meeting, State Department Counselor Helmut Sonnenfeldt suggested that a permanent "organic" relationship between the Soviet Union and its satellites would avoid the risk of World War II and should be viewed by the United States in that light.

Sonnenfeldt, a top Kissinger aide, was understood by many diplomats at the meeting to be speaking in "a realistic context" that recognized that United States and other Western military forces did not move to support past uprisings in Hungary, Poland and East Berlin or during the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968.

Subsequently it was conceded that Sonnenfeldt's use of the word "organic" was unfortunate and subject to misinterpretation. He was even said to have made the point that the United States should encourage impulses for autonomy in Eastern Europe.

The various quotes attributed to Sonnenfeldt were far from clear, however. Was he suggesting the organization of geo-political spheres of influence with Eastern Europe recognized as belonging in Russia's sphere?

That is a key question O'Hara wants the house committee probe to answer. O'Hara felt if the facts can be sorted out, free of political sloganeering, it might be possible to formulate "a clear statement of U.S. policy on Eastern Europe and its people."

Milliken must make amends on medicaid

This a special time of the year at the State Capitol.

It's budget time, when the legislators decide how the state is going to spend its money during the next year.

Special interest groups have descended on the Capitol building to impress lawmakers on how important it is to the future of the state to see that this group or that group gets state money. It could be a university president making a pitch for a new program or it could be a teacher union asking for more money for its members.

But, sometimes the people who need state help the most are the ones least able to make a pitch for their cause.

Example: the more than 100,000 Medicaid recipients who have been affected by the past year's 11 percent cut in that program.

To the average person, the cut means nothing more than biting the bullet during a difficult economic time.

However, to these people, who are affected by the state cuts, it means, literally, having to bite the bullet without teeth, or without eyeglasses.

They are the poor, the severely ill and the aged. For some reason, they don't have the means or the ability to support themselves or to take care of their basic human needs. Many times, they have no relatives to help them; it's just them and the world.

The Medicaid cuts, ordered by Gov. William G. Milliken, in most cases, won't mean the difference between life and death, but will mean the difference between being able to cope with daily life or not able to deal with their infirmities with a degree of dignity.

The Visiting Nurse Association of Metropolitan Detroit has compiled a list of examples of how the cuts have affected the people they treat everyday:

●A 54-year-old woman with multiple sclerosis who began having problems with her teeth in late 1975. She went to a dentist who prescribed a treatment plan. Having only a small monthly Social Security income and Medicaid, her resources were limited.

But, when Milliken ordered the 11 percent Medicaid cut, they were reduced even further. Medicaid discontinued payment for dental work and she was unable to get the necessary treatment. Today she has pain and difficulty in eating.

●A 63-year-old Medicaid recipient who has chronic kidney difficulties and diabetes. She has dialysis treatment three times a week at Henry Ford Hospital. Because of her condition, she cannot ride a bus. When Milliken ordered his cuts, medical transportation has been discontinued. She is having trouble getting the proper treatment.

●A 71-year-old diabetic, arthritic woman who lives alone and whose vision has been decreasing for several months. It's becoming impossible for her to read the labels on food. He condition worsens because Medicaid no longer pays for eye examinations or for eyeglasses.

The list is endless. These people live in all parts of the state, from the Upper Peninsula to Downriver Detroit. They could be anybody's aunt or uncle.

They need help and are unable to provide it for themselves. Because of changes in society's mores about helping the poor, the sick and the aged, this help has been coming from the state.

Now that help has been slashed drastically.

Meanwhile, the march to the legislature by special interest groups wanting state money continues, but the Medicaid recipients are not included. Their eyesight was probably bad to read the phone book to even call their lawmaker, or maybe they were just to ill.

Milliken has done a great injustice to these people. He still has time to make amends.

New construction at stake

State to enter power field?

LANSING — Two key members of the Governor's Advisory Commission on Electric Power Alternatives say Michigan electric utilities cannot expect to get adequate rate increases to finance new construction from the Michigan Public Service Commission.

It was this feeling, reached reluctantly, which made the two cast key votes for a preliminary recommendation that the state enter the field of constructing electric generating plants.

The two members are Chairman James Brickley, president of Eastern Michigan University, and Dr. Paul McCracken, a University of Michigan economist and former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors. Their views were expressed in an exchange of letters dealing with the commission's recommendations.

McCracken initiated the exchange with a letter to Brickley saying he very reluctantly voted for the proposal.

"I find myself having arrived at the conclusion that unless there is some change we apparently cannot really expect the institutions of the state government to give any leadership, or even to perform their duty, in this state regarding electric power," he said. "If so, the state must choose between finding some alternatives to finance needed additional capacity, or facing power shortages which would have a cumulatively adverse effect on employment opportunities in the

Excise tax repeal sought for heavy trucks, buses

WASHINGTON — Sen. Robert P. Griffin and Rep. Marvin L. Esch want Congress to repeal promptly the federal excise tax on heavy trucks and buses to ease Michigan's unemployment burden and stimulate the economy.

The two Michigan Republican lawmakers stressed that the excise tax repealer should be incorporated as part of tax reform legislation under consideration by Congress.

They conceded that repeal would mean a yearly revenue loss of some $700 million from the highway trust fund, for which the excise taxes are earmarked.

However, Griffin and Esch noted that the trust fund already has an estimated $9 billion surplus and pointed out that trucks still would be major contributors to the fund through fuel taxes and other user charges.

"They're the proper mode for assuring that trucks pay their share of the use of our highways—not excise taxes which place an unfair percentage of the burden on only the very largest of the trucks," Esch said.

"Whatever justification once existed for these taxes, it has long since passed," Griffin declared. "They are the last vestiges of the 'Emergency and temporary' excise taxes enacted during the Great Depression and World War II.

"Congress already has repealed excise taxes levied on everything from refrigerators to jewelry...it is not fair to continue a discriminatory sales tax, which applies to no other form of transportation."

Griffin and Sen. Philip A. Hart introduced a repeal bill 13 months ago. Its provisions were approved by the Senate as part of an omnibus tax measure but later were dropped from the legislation by a House-Senate conference committee.

Griffin wants the repealer revived in the Senate. Esch is co-sponsor of an identical measure pending in the House.

Federal excise taxes on automobiles and light trucks were repealed several years ago, leaving only a 10 percent tax on buses and on trucks over 10,000 pounds and an eight percent tax on parts and accessories for them.

Griffin and Esch said the tax adds between $2,500 to $3,000 to the cost of a new rig. They saw this as a major reason for truck sales falling by 40 percent in 1975 and a further 20 percent in the first three months of this year.

"Clearly, the combination of a sluggish economy and a sharp increase in prices became a serious detriment to the truck industry and resulted in the loss of thousands of jobs," Esch said.

Griffin and Esch stressed that this job loss did not apply to Michigan alone. They pointed out there also had been sharp reductions in the numbers of workers building buses and trucks in California, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas.

Poetry Corner

Because of so much reader interest in the poems of Marge Lavery of Belleville, we are devoting this week's Poetry Corner to this prolific poet.

OUR HOLY BIBLE

Let us open up our Holy Bible, just to read a verse or two each day. Jesus wants us all a little closer, and on our knees he'd like to see us pray.

Let us be nice to each and everybody. And what a happy world this would be. Just pass along a little word of kindness and praise his name to every one you see.

If our love was spread a little farther and we took Jesus at his holy word. All our lives would be so full of sunshine, so start preparing for your home up there.

Let's invite our friends to come to our church. Let us help them to be born again. Jesus wants us all to be ready, as this world is nearly at an end.

JUST TELL US WHY

Mother-in-law we love you. But I just can't understand the treatment that you dish out to the children that you had.

Your son gets very lonesome for his mother dear to see. But I guess you don't come over 'cause you don't care much for me.

We've tried to come to your house and bring you things you need. But everything we try to do, you nag us, don't you see.

You just don't seem to worry about the children that you raised. And you never come to see them or give them any praise.

A phone is hanging on your wall, and you call all your friends.

But your children you don't call. You hurt them all you can.

You travel a lot of miles to see your friends so dear. And your kids live so much closer, but you never travel here.

But one thing that we know for sure. Someday you'll want us all. And we won't want a thing to do with good old mother-in-law.

BOOB TUBE TOOK MY PLACE

Can't you ever take a little time to hear what I have to say. Do you always have to sit and watch that boob tube every day?

All the time you spend at home you stare right at that box. Sometimes I wish a fuse would blow so you and I could talk.

You load your meals on a plate and in the front room you trot. You just can't seem to miss a thing that boob tube talks about.

Us women now are widows, 'cause boob tube took our place. All we hear is "shhh, don't talk, you'll make me miss a play."

Sometimes I think you said "I do" to the boob tube in the room. And I think you got a license saying "boob tube and the groom."

JUST A CALL

A friend that lives near you is struggling alone and the road that's ahead is so rough. All of her gut up and go is now gone 'cause the going for her is so tough.

The faith that she had in all her friends has darkened; there is no beam of light. Friends that she cherished have not tried to mend the heart that was broken that night.

Just a call on the phone would mean so much and would sure let me know that you care. Deep in my heart your call would touch a spot that feels so bare.

Friends and neighbors are so far apart. They all care so little, I say. But can't they find a spot in their heart to say "hello, and how are you today?"

Someday, my friend, your heart will break and you'll be alone and blue. And you will wish your friends would take the time to call on you.

DENISE

She's mama's little girl and she's as good as she can be. Her hair is straight, no curl, but that's the fad, you see.

She always wears a smile, and her eyes they shine so bright. She makes mom's life worthwhile and makes all mom's days right.

She's the apple of her daddy's eye. She's just dad's pride and joy. All his world around her lies. With her he is never annoyed.

She helps mom and dad work around the house. She loves to cook and bake. She's very quiet and not too loud. So her parents' heart won't break.

So, Denise, I want to tell you, so listen loud and clear. Girls like you are, oh, so few, so never change my dear.

U.S. assesses damage left in the wake of Kissinger African trip

By PATRICK J. BUCHANAN
New York Times News Service

Panax Opinions

WASHINGTON—It is too early to determine if Dr. Kissinger's safari through black Africa did greater damage to U.S. policy interests or to President Ford's hopes in the remaining primaries. There are cogent arguments for both points of view.

In Zambia, the Secretary placed the moral authority of the United States behind the militant Marxist regime of Mozambique, and against the beleaguered pro-Western government of Rhodesia. In Senegal, he promised the U. S. taxpayers were going to help "roll back" the Sahara Desert. In Nairobi, he proposed a billion-dollar "International Resources Bank," the purpose of which is to spare Third World regimes the distasteful business of dealing directly with Western capitalists.

The Secretary's promise to "roll back the desert" has to be the most hare-brained scheme hatched in the U. S. Government since Lyndon Johnson committed the country to build another "Great Society" along the Mekong River. If the U.S. wishes to do something for the starving nomads of the sanel, it would do better to provide them with a month of free food and bus tickets out of that God-forsaken region of West Africa. Recapturing the Sahara from Mother Nature makes as much sense, economically, as planting Central Alaska in cotton.

Regrettably, Dr. Kissinger passed up, once again, the opportunity to instruct his Third World colleagues in the economic realities of 1976.

Despite global lamentation over the fact that the gap between rich and poor nations is growing, that gap will continue to grow. Consider. If the United States with a gross national product (GNP) of $1.5 trillion, say, grows by four percent in a single year, $69 billion would be added to the U.S. GNP. A Third World country with a GNP of $60 billion would have to double the size of its economy in one year not to lose ground.

Unless the West stagnates or declines, the absolute gap in wealth between rich nations and poor nations is almost certain to widen. It is nonsense to say that the world cannot survive half rich and half poor; it has; it does; it will.

As for the demands that the West "share the wealth" with the Third World, nothing like this is remotely in the cards. The wealth of the United States is the creation and property of the American people; it is not Henry Kissinger's to give away. First claim upon the distribution of that wealth does not belong to the regimes of Asia or Africa, but the poor people of our own country. And it would be economic folly to shift vast resources out of the most efficient and productive economy on earth into the Marxist and socialist sink holes of the Third World, where that wealth would disappear without a trace. During the past three decades, the United States has poured billions in free food and tons of billions in foreign assistance into these countries; from it, we have reaped little more than a harvest of hatred and ingratitude.

All the demands of the Third World for a "new international economic order" do not create a single obligation on the part of this country to funnel our hard-earned wealth into their coffers.

What Dr. Kissinger should have told the folks in Nairobi is that their poverty is not our fault, that we did not give up the role of world policeman to assume that of social worker in the world's welfare office, that the salad days of the big aid bucks are over, that future U.S. assistance will go to associates and allies of the United States and those countries whose free economic institutions make them wise repositories of investment dollars.

If the poor nations of mankind wish to blame someone for their present plight they should look to their own colleagues among the OPEC countries whose quintupling of the price of oil has brought renewed misery throughout the Third World. As for the socialist and Marxist states, they side regularly with the Soviet bloc, they should look to Moscow for foreign assistance.

The only sure road to national wealth lies along the route taken by the successful Third World countries of the post-war era, such as the Republic of Korea and the Republic of China. That way involves sacrifice, savings, and swallowing one's dislike of foreign capitalists to reap the benefits of foreign capital.

By making yet another set of "new" proposals in response to Third World "demands," Dr. Kissinger has only allowed the world's poor cousins to persevere in the belief that there is some militant socialist shortcut to prosperity. There is none.

action taken by the U.S. Congress in cutting off aid.

"Indirectly, he must be blamed because his policies toward the Soviet Union did not prevent a takeover."

Education headed for trouble

By WEST THORP
Panax Lansing Bureau

LANSING—When parents get upset about the condition of the state's public schools, it is more than likely that they won't think of complaining to Ed Vandette from Houghton.

These same parents elected Vandette, a 43-year-old college professor, to be their conduit with the state on education.

He does this as one of eight members on the State Board of Education which is increasing in importance because of its assumption of many of the prerogatives usually reserved for local school boards.

As a result, these eight people are making decisions which directly affect the education of everybody from pre-school to post graduate study.

A conversation with Vandette gives a glimpse at where the state is headed in education.

It's headed for trouble, according to Vandette, who teaches history and political science at Michigan Technological University in Houghton.

"This is because the day is coming," he says, "when local school boards will be powerless."

The state is taking away their job, Vandette adds. "What does this mean? It means the loss of local control of education."

"The cause of this is the pressure coming from the legislature with their mandated programs and from the unionization of teachers which has tied the hands of administrators in dealing with the problems of their school systems," he says.

Vandette says the state legislature should change the teacher tenure law so a teacher's tenure is reviewed at least, every five years.

Under the present system, he says, once a teacher gets tenure that teacher is protected for life.

"When you make a decision to give a person tenure, you are making a million dollar decision. You are making a decision about somebody who's going to be in front of two or three generations of kids," Vandette says.

The problem with mentioning teacher tenure, Vandette explains, is that people usually think of "hiring and firing." If a person is in trouble as far as his teaching skills go, then lets recycle him."

But, he maintains, "if the teacher is not doing his job at that time, then our obligation is not to the teacher, but to the kids."

His power as a board member is limited because the state constitution is vague about the authority of the board. Educational policy-making has been shared between the legislature, the local school boards and the state board."

But because of legislative mandates for new educational programs and for other reasons, the state board is being put in the position of making many decisions for local schools.

Cuba threat to Canal?

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — A ranking member of the U.S. Senate Armed Services Committee, Senator Harry F. Byrd Jr. (Ind-Va.), has warned Secretary of State Henry Kissinger that if Russian-backed Cuban military activity is allowed to continue, "I fear it is only a matter of time before they strike in our hemisphere."

In a letter to Kissinger dated March 4 and released exclusively to this correspondent, the Virginia independent senator asserted that "I am concerned about the significance of events in Angola as they pertain to the Panama Canal, and I urge you to reconsider your position on this matter."

Byrd and other Senators believe that Kissinger has already concluded, in secret, a new Panama Canal Treaty that renounces U.S. sovereignty over the Canal. Bluntly, Byrd warned in his letter that should the U.S. give up sovereignty over either the Canal or Canal Zone, "our government would have no meaningful recourse if the government of Panama attempted to evict the United States from what would then be that country's sovereign territory."

"Mr. Secretary," the letter concluded, "I believe this is a matter of utmost importance and I would hope that you too would now agree that the United States can no longer afford to return its sovereignty over the Panama Canal, and the Canal Zone, to the government of Panama."

The Byrd letter comes in the wake of growing Congressional concern about further military action by Soviet-equipped Cuban troops in the African nation of Rhodesia. In an exclusive interview with this correspondent, the ranking member of the Senate Armed Service Committee accused Kissinger of being "misled by Cuba" when, prior to its military operations in Angola, the State Department advocated a normalization of relations with Castro.

"He apparently did not see through what Castro was doing," Byrd stated of Kissinger, "or, if he did, he disregarded it. He must have had adequate intelligence to indicate what Cuba was up to."

Byrd said he thinks Kissinger is still determined to go through with a revised Canal treaty despite Cuban-Soviet military activities in Angola and their potential military action against Rhodesia. The long-time critic of Kissinger went on to point out that last year at the Southern Governors' Conference, Kissinger pledged that "The United States must maintain the right to defend the Panama Canal for an indefinite period." But Byrd stated that "this is not what he proposed to do with the Panamanians."

"What I am suggesting," he added, "is that Secretary Kissinger's words are at odds with his actions." Byrd called for the Ford administration and its State Department to learn from the Cuban adventure in Angola and "change their views on Panama." He went on to warn that Cuban interest in Africa might be a prelude "and training ground" for aggression elsewhere.

"Is Angola," Byrd asked, "the Spain of the 1970s, when in the 1930s Hitler used that Iberian nation as a training ground for World War II? Is Castro using Angola for a training ground for what he wants to do later on in Latin America?"

"If we sign a treaty, and the Senate approves it, which eliminates U.S. sovereignty," Byrd warned, "that puts Castro in a much better position to take steps against Panama than if it were U.S. territory. If it ceases to be U.S. territory, Castro is not attacking U.S. territory."

Byrd said that he would be in favor of some changes in the current U.S. treaty with Panama, but was emphatic that in the wake of Cuban-Soviet military action in Angola, "what is not negotiable is the elimination of U.S. sovereignty."

He predicted that if the Ford administration submitted this year a treaty that contained elimination of U.S. sovereignty the "Senate would turn it down." Byrd said further that because the current military government of Panama seized power illegally and has indicated a friendly attitude toward Cuba, the Panamanian government "could very well position itself to invite Castro in. In any case, Panama could not defend that Canal against a determined Cuban onslaught."

Byrd was particularly pessimistic that any solution to the Canal issue could be resolved while the current military government is in power.

"Once you negotiate the matter of sovereignty," he said, "then one demand leads to another demand. I don't think there is going to be an end to the demands. I don't think we are going to satisfy the current regime whatever we do. I see no logic in giving up sovereignty, especially after what Castro has done in Angola."

The Virginia senator went on to point out that while to Latin nations continued U.S. sovereignty over the Canal is "an emotional issue," nevertheless because of American presence, Panama has the largest per capita income of any central American nation and the second largest per capita income of any Latin nation — exceeded only by Venezuela because of its oil riches.

"Certainly a case has not been made," Byrd stated, "that our presence in Panama has been detrimental to the Panamanians. Now it may be an emotional issue to many, but from an economic point of view they have been the gainers." Byrd was critical of Kissinger for failing to take Cuban-Russian military actions in Angola to the Organization of American States and to the United Nations Security Council, insisting that this failure to act has dealt a severe blow to both Kissinger and his policy of detente. However, Byrd was quick to add that Kissinger "cannot justifiably be blamed for Angola," because of the Library garden beautified

The patio area of the Fred C. Fisher Library in Belleville is richer these Bicentennial spring days by one flowering crab tree which was planted by the Van Buren Garden Club. Donated by Bentley Nursery and Gallery of Belleville, the new addition was put in place by (from left)

VB Garden Club plants tree

The Fred C. Fisher Library in Belleville is richer these mid-spring days by one flowering crab tree which recently was added to its garden-patio area courtesy the Van Buren Garden Club.

The flowering crab has been designated by the State of Michigan as its official Bicentennial tree. The Federated Garden Club of Michigan has requested all clubs to plant a tree to salute America and the library was the local group's choice.

In fact, the club has for the past several years planted trees as living memorials to its members. Trees are usually added on Arbor Day in a setting of the members' choice.

The Van Buren Garden Club wishes to thank John Bentley of Bentley's Nursery and Gallery for contributing the tree and assisting with its planting. Members also thank Girl Scout Troop No. 616 for helping to maintain the library grounds. The club has seen to the landscaping and care of the lawns and terrace for a number of years and urges residents to stop in and enjoy the beautiful and peaceful garden setting as well as the facilities of the building itself.

At annual banquet

Home Arts hears forensics champs

The Home Arts Club of Belleville brought its 1975-76 season to a close May 10. During the traditional banquet the slate of officers elected for the ensuing year was announced.

Beverly Eichold was handed the president's gavel and her fellow officers are Charlotte Price, vice-president; Eula Haft, recording secretary; Lucille Bravatto, corresponding secretary and Charlotte Budd, treasurer. Marilyn Prill will chair the program committee with assistance from Frances Jobe, Vera Nollf and Muriel Wolfe.

Mildred Baker, president, was among those wearing Bicentennial gowns as requested by the program committee. She gave the welcome address to the 30 members and two guests and thanked her fellow officers for their help during the year. She, in turn, was presented a gift of appreciation from the club.

Following dinner the group was introduced to two young people from Eastern Michigan University's (EMU) award-winning forensics team. Avis White, also in a gown reminiscent of a bygone era, presented Dan Bernard, a freshman from Detroit, and Denise Gorsline, a senior from Taylor, who entertained with several clever and witty oratorical pieces.

The twosome was among a team of 26 young people from EMU who traveled to Pasadena, Calif. to take part in the National Individual Speaking Events Championship.

Miss Gorsline used the method of persuasive speaking as she delivered a convincing talk on the risks and consequences of oral contraceptives. She stressed that eight out of 10 women depend on "the pill" which, she pointed out, is still really just one giant experiment with too many side effects.

Her partner for the evening came in second in the nation in informative speaking which is rhetorical criticism presented in an enjoyable way. He chose political satirists and cartoonists as his subject and used a number of enlarged drawings as visual aids.

A pastime of international scope, the caricature, he said, is the main tool of the artist.

He illustrated the method of lampooning features of notables by drawing Secretary of State Kissinger with exaggeratedly dark-rimmed glasses, an overly-large nose and a receding but very curly hairline. Faces, he said, set the mood while a few words carry out the message of the picture.

Elwell Scouts tour capitol

The Elwell Junior Girl Scout Troop No. 535 enjoyed a motor trip May 5 to Lansing to tour the state capitol. The girls were welcomed to the building by District's State Representative Gary Owen who gave a talk about state government and held a question and answer period.

The girls were taken on a guided tour of the building and told how the nearly 100-year-old capitol was built. They learned the history of many things, including that of the ornate chandeliers made from copper mined in our own Upper Peninsula. The girls saw the inside of the dome (known as the Rotunda) the glass floor and hundreds of Michigan flags encased in glass for viewing.

The replica of the Liberty Bell was of special interest, as was a chance to sit in the house gallery and watch the state representatives in session. Among other things they were also shown the senate chamber and where the governor and lieutenant governor's offices were.

Troop No. 535 is familiarizing itself with the state level of government in preparation for a trip to Washington, D.C. in June. The girls with their leaders, Mrs. Pat Rombyer and Mrs. Jennie Prohaska, and several troop mothers will soon fly to Maryland to stay in the Rockwood Girl Scout Camp. From there they will tour the nation's capitol.

The girls have worked hard during the past two years on several fund raising activities and the annual Girl Scout cookie and calendar sales to earn money for the upcoming trip.

Keith Huntsinger and a friend from Taylor were callers Sunday afternoon at the home of the former's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lupher of Karr Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering of West Columbia Avenue spent May 8 and 9 at Fort Wayne, Ind. where they attended the golden wedding anniversary of cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Romine, at the South Wayne United Methodist Church.

At a family dinner held after the open house all enjoyed hearing a tape that had been made on the occasion of the 50th anniversary party of Glenn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Romine in 1949.

Luncheon guests Friday of Mrs. Dorothy Kellas of Margery Street were Mrs. Oscar Brown of Orlando, Fla., Miss Mildred Mackey of Detroit, Mrs. Virginia Taylor of Westland and Mrs. Charles Kidwell and son, Jason, of Ellen Drive.

Mrs. Miles Berkey of Toledo spent several days recently at the Denton Road home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mericle. On Mother's Day they were all dinner guests of the latter's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Statham of Highland.

Mrs. Helen White of Bedell Street and Mrs. Ruth Lindsay of Savage Road motored to Washington, Ind. where they attended funeral services for a friend, Mrs. Helen Waite. Enroute home they stopped in Marion, Ind. and called on friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Robar.

Mother's Day guests at the Charles McKelvey home on Bemis Road were members of their family, the Glenn McKelveys of Flushing, the Richard McKelveys of Romulus and the Charles McKelveys of Fret Road.

Mrs. Robert Welt and daughters Denise and Roberta, were among other relatives who attended a bridal shower for the former's niece, Cheryl Bricker, at the home of Mrs. Dale Bricker in Westland on May 12.

Scouts honor mothers

Girl Scout Troop No. 369 and Brownie Troop No. 362 of Edgemont School held a mother and daughter salad banquet recently with poems and skits highlighting the occasion.

The tables were decorated in pink and green flowers which the girls had made during their meetings.

To help defray the cost of a trip to Niagara Falls, the girls compiled a book of all the salad recipes used and sold them following the banquet. The Scouts gave special thanks to all their mothers by presenting them with pink carnations.

Eskridge-Zol wed

Toronto is honeymoon site

In an early spring ceremony at the Madonna resident chapel at Madonna College in Livonia, Deborah Lee Zol exchanged wedding vows and rings with George Reid Eskridge.

Following a reception in the Burgundy Room of the Knights of Columbus Hall in Wayne, the newlyweds departed on a week-long motor trip to Toronto, Ont. They are now making their home in Southgate.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon A. Zol of Romulus, the bride walked to the sanctuary with her father. For her special day she selected a gown of sata peau designed with a sunburst yoke formed of Venice lace, the same lace appearing on the A-line skirt, chapel train and fan sleeves.

Her chapel length veil banded in Venice lace was caught to a crescent cap. She completed her bridal ensemble with an arrangement of white baby rosebuds, baby's breath and stephanotis mounted on her mother's prayerbook.

The bride's cousin, The Rev. Robert J. Witkowski, pastor of St. Mary Magdalen Church in Melvindale, presided at the 5 p.m. rite before an altar appointed with white gladiolas. A trio of folk singers from St. Mary Magdalen's under the leadership of Jean Girard, provided music for the occasion. Van Eskridge, cousin of the bridegroom, served as lector during the nuptial mass.

Maid of honor was Marian Klotz of Lincoln Park, the bride's close friend from high school days. Her pale blue crepe gown, designed with a high neckline with a lace yoke and trim, was made by her mother. The white wicker basket she held was filled with blue and white daisies and baby's breath.

Connie Eskridge of Greenwood, Del., sister of the bridegroom, donned an identical gown in yellow crepe which she had made and which earned her a first place award in the Delaware 4-H sewing contest. Yellow and white daisies filled her wicker basket.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Eskridge Jr. of Greenwood, Del., asked Fred A. Lorenz Jr. of Belleville to be best man. Watson Allen Zdrodowski of Woodhaven, cousin of the bride, was groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Zol chose an opal green qiana gown enhanced with silver sea beads. The bridegroom's mother appeared in a gown of coral mesh polyester, women were presented with corsages of tinted roses and baby's breath.

Also honored with a corsage was the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Viola Eskridge, who traveled from Greenwood, Del. for the occasion. The rehearsal dinner for 20 people was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at 1800 s.

The new Mrs. Eskridge graduated from Madonna College with a bachelor of science degree in criminal justice. She currently is working toward her master's degree in guidance and counseling at Eastern Michigan University.

UHT Memorial Funeral Home

Easing the burden: PRE-PLANNING

The seriousness of the situation was evident in the nurse's voice. "Could you please come to the hospital right away, Chaplain Miller? Mr. Gary has just had a cardiac arrest and his wife is absolutely beside herself?"

"How does it look for him?" asked Chaplain Miller.

"We just don't know which way it's going to go," she said, "but it doesn't look good at all."

Chaplain Miller placed the phone back in its cradle. It was six o'clock on a pleasant summer Saturday evening. Death, in any shape or form, he thought, seemed entirely inappropriate. Nevertheless, in slightly less than two hours, Mr. Gary died.

Chaplain Miller explained that although Mrs. Gary had support from relatives and good friends, she was unprepared to handle all the arrangements to be made in the hours and days after her husband's death. Decisions and details, many of which could have been attended to long ago, confronted her.

Pre-planning is sensible. Planning for death and burial is reasonable, logical and practical. Perhaps we do not like to think about our own funerals, much less plan for them. But in fact, there are three very sound reasons for pre-planning.

First, it brings the subject into the open, where it can be discussed by members of the family. Second, pre-planning enables a person to make his wishes clearly known, thus guiding survivors and making their decision-making that much wiser and easier. Third, it can eliminate completely any possible disagreement as to doing "what would be most appropriate" or "what he or she would have wanted us to do."

THE REV.
JAMES C. SOUTHWARD

Minister is named by church

The Rev. James C. Southward has been named the pastor of the New Boston Baptist Church.

Married to the former Rosalie Bird, The Rev. Southward is a 1958 graduate of Belleville High School. He was ordained in ceremonies at Westland's Prayer Baptist Church April 25.

Prior to his ordination, The Rev. Southward worked at the A and P Stores, starting out as a bag boy and working 14 years to become meat manager. He has worked for the past three years for the Preferred Risk Insurance Co. and distinguished himself by being the top insurance agent in Michigan and the second-best in the Midwest Division of the company.

The Rev. Southward's service in the Baptist Church includes work as youth director at the Grace Baptist Church of Belleville, minister of music at the Zion Missionary Church of Belleville and as the former assistant pastor of the Metro Baptist Temple of Belleville.

Mrs. Southward is a 1960 graduate of Belleville High and has distinguished herself as a musician teaching organ and piano at her home and serving at one time as organist for the Metro Baptist Temple.

The Rev. and Mrs. Southward are the parents of three children — Jill, 14; Connie, 12; and Kirstan, 4.

In moving to the New Boston Baptist Church, they take over a church first built in 1888 as a Methodist Church. Since taking over the church a little less than one month ago, the membership of the New Boston Baptist Church, located at the intersection of Huron River Drive, Hannan and Waltz roads, has quadrupled.

"We are building a new testament church, based on the Book of Acts," The Rev. Southward said. "Our offerings include an active teen program, Sunday school classes at 10 a.m., Sunday worship at 11 a.m., Sunday evening service at 7 p.m. and Wednesday Bible Study at 7 p.m."

"In addition we have a clean, well equipped and staffed nursery available for all church services."

Clark's Grist Mill Belleville, Michigan

The Arlington House Belleville, Michigan

Bygone era captured in drawings

Pen and ink drawings depicting scenes of the Van Buren-Belleville area in its early years will be among the items featured at the Belleville-Van Buren-Canton Chamber of Commerce Trade Fair May 22 and 23. The set of four stationery notes is being sold for $1 while a packet of 12 is a real bargain at $2. The note paper, which will be found at the Polish Ethnic Festival at the Trade Fair, was reproduced from original drawings made by an Urbana, Ill. artist, Caroline Weiss Becker, and paid for from funds garnered from a silent auction sponsored by the Van Buren Township Bicentennial Committee. The scenes include Clark's Grist Mill and the Arlington House, both of Belleville, (at top) and the Belleville Road Bridge and an old-fashioned hayrack, both in Van Buren Township.

Area's early scenes inked for special note paper sale

A Polish Ethnic Festival will be held in conjunction with the upcoming Trade Fair sponsored by the Belleville-Van Buren-Canton Chamber of Commerce, May 22 and 23, at the 4-H Fairgrounds on Quirk Road, Belleville.

The festival, itself, is a Van Buren Township Bicentennial Ethnic Project. Dancers under the direction of Michael Krolewski of Detroit will present programs, each lasting approximately 45 minutes, at 2, 4 and 7 p.m. May 22 and at 2 and 4 p.m. the following day.

The group of dancers belong to the Polish American Folk Theater and consist of the Wilno Group of Warren and the Kalisz Dancers from the PNA Lodge of Belleville.

Demonstrations of Polish folk life, paper cutting and egg dying will also be featured.

Booths will be under the direction of Tom Ryback and will include such attractions as crystal, amber, dolls in full costume and in regional scenes, hand-carved boxes and plates, wood carvings, records, books, and hand-carved chess sets. Still other items will be hand-painted wooden eggs, embroidered blouses, leather purses, ceramics, hand-woven tapestries, cards and food products such as candies and soup mixes.

Note paper which was reproduced from pen and ink drawings by an Urbana, Ill. artist, Caroline Weiss Becker, will be on sale. The four scenes depicted are two from Belleville, the old Clark's Grist Mill and the Arlington House, and two from Van Buren Township, the old Belleville Road Bridge and an old-fashioned hayrack.

The originals were sold at a silent auction during the Prologue Program Feb. 29 and now belong to Carol Schank, Judy Fruit, Marge Jahr and Sherry Rydinsky.

Mrs. Becker currently is working on a new series of drawings which are expected to be available in July. She will follow up with two more sets before the year is over.

Each packet contains four note sheets and sells for $1 with a special price of $2 for a packet of 12. Proceeds benefit the work of the Van Buren Bicentennial Committee.

Babies baptized on Mother's Day

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Mother's Day was a popular time for the christening of infants with several being held at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville as well as in other churches in the area.

Among those baptized by The Rev. Joy Arthur during the 10:30 a.m. service May 9 was Kimberly Alice Shephard, the 4-months old daughter of Jim and Pat Shephard of Sumpter Road.

Relatives and friends were invited back to the Shephards after the ceremony for a picnic dinner which not only honored their daughter but their two mothers and their own sixth wedding anniversary which fell a day earlier.

Special cakes for the christening and anniversary were baked and decorated by the infant's grandmother, Mrs. Arthur Shephard, who attended with her husband, their son Brian and his friends, Nancy Ostrowski and Steve Lemanski.

Others at the party were the baby's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sliwa Sr., and her great-grandmother Mrs. Mary Sliwa. Also the junior Stan Sliwas and their son, Mike, and the Roger Fergusons and their trio — Leslie, Shawn and Shari.

JENNIFER CHRISTENED

Another baby from the community to receive the sacrament of baptism on Mother's Day was little Jennifer Erin Cornell who was born March 2. The 2-months old infant was presented at St. John the Baptist Catholic Church in Ypsilanti by her God-parents, Tim Brothers a close family friend from Westland, and Diane Soja a second cousin from Belleville. The Rev. Jerry Ploof officiated the rite.

Pete and Florence Cornell of Chatsworth Road, the baby's parents, and their guests were invited to the home of her parents, the Walter Krakowiaks of Willis Road, for the dinner which followed the 12:30 p.m. service.

On hand for the occasion were Bob and Frances Soja and family of Belleville, Chris Sullivan of Dearborn and Mark Ennen of Ann Arbor.

CONFIRMATION PARTY

This past Sunday relatives and friends gathered at the Venetian Avenue home of Gerald and Joyce Lindemann for an open house marking the confirmation of their daughter, Carol, who also had a birthday to celebrate that same day.

Carol was among those confirmed by Pastor Walter Henning at the 10:30 a.m. service at St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Belleville.

The 2 p.m. buffet (which was being planned as an outdoor event, weather permitting) was attended by guests from Allen Park, Romulus, Carleton and Belleville as well as the honoree's paternal grandparents, the Earl Lindemanns, who came in from Plantation, Fla. especially for the celebration. The Ernest Hoffmans of Romulus, Carol's maternal grandparents, and her God-parents, Jim and Beverly McKinney of Carleton, were among those congratulating the young lady.

Gospel groups finish series

Six of the country's most renowned gospel groups will appear in the third and final program of Music Hall's original series, "Music of the Black Church", at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

The 3-part series traces, in narration and music, 350 years of a still-evolving American musical form — Gospel.

Appearing in the program will be The Voices of Tabernacle of Detroit's Tabernacle Church, Jerry Thomas and The Gospel Experience from Cleveland, Ohio, Nat Townsley Jr. and the Lighthouse Ensemble from New York City, The Howard Lemon Singers, Voices of Moriah of Greater New Mt. Moriah Baptist Church and the McCulloch School Glee Club.

The groups represent contemporary and progressive gospel at its finest. The narration will be shared by two of Detroit's leading radio personalities, Martha Jean "The Queen" of WJLB Radio and Bertha Harris of WCHB Radio. They will trace the evolution of traditional gospel to its present and still changing forms. The Voices of Tabernacle Church was begun when Prayer Tabernacle Church was founded by the Rev. Charles Ashley Craig II in 1958. Under his direction, the 125-member group recorded and toured the country to become nationally known as The Love of God Choir.

Combine a group of multi-talented, dedicated young people, with an innovative composer and you come up with an exciting combination called Jerry Thomas and The Gospel Experience, a Music Hall spokesman said. Each member of this group sings and plays musical instruments. Together they blend beautiful voices and versatility to make a totally enjoyable "Gospel Experience".

Tickets are available at the Music Hall, or by calling 963-7680. Special group rates are available by calling 963-7622.

Nat Townsley and The Lighthouse Ensemble of New York City is difficult to describe, the spokesman added. But those who have heard and seen them agree that they represent the epitome of talent in the contemporary and progressive gospel field.

The Howard Lemon Singers group, organized in Detroit in 1971, guided by the musical ear of Howard Lemon, has selected three gifted vocalists to complete the "perfect sound" he has conceived; Joyce Moore, Esther Smith and William Garrett.

Together, the artists produce a distinctive musical quality that incorporates in one form, jazz, popular, classical and gospel to produce a musical experience that is contemporary.

Two additional groups, local favorites, The Voices of Moriah of the Greater New Mt. Moriah Baptist Church under the direction of Robert Nix, and the MacCulloch School Glee Club led by Music Director, Jack Folsom, also will appear in the show.

Greek fest opens riverfront's fairs

The summer's ethnic festivals will begin this weekend, with Greek Festival Queen Cynthia Vickrey reigning during the festivities, sponsored by the Modern Greek Cultural Association.

Most of the upcoming festivals will take place on the riverfront west of Cobo Hall, between 6th and 8th streets, with opening ceremonies at 6 p.m. each Friday evening. Festival hours will be from 6 to 11 p.m. Fridays, 12 to 11 p.m. Saturdays, Sundays and applicable holidays.

The Greek Festival will feature the cuisine, costumes, music and art of Greece. Thirty-eight booths will provide food — including azgolemeono (egg-lemon soup), souvlaki (shish-kebab), and pastries loukoumades and baklava. Craft booths will offer worry beads, decorative wall plaques, jewelry, statues and other artifacts.

Entertainment will be continuous during the festival and will include performances by The Rhodians, a group of musicians, dancers and singers, and the Hellenic Society for the Performing Arts. Also participating in this year's festival are Assumption Church, Constantine and Helen Church, Holy Cross Church, Nativity of the Virgin Mary, St. Nicholas Church, Holy Cross Church of Windsor and Greek schools.

Parking is available in a lot adjacent to the festival site. There is a parking fee, but no admission cost to the festivals.

The Department of Transportation will operate an Ethnic Festival Shuttle between Cadillac Square and the festival site from Friday through Sept. 19. The fare is 15 cents one way, and buses will run every 20 minutes. The first stop is the north side of Cadillac Square, just west of Bates. Additional pick ups will be at all regular bus stops along the way. On the return trip, they pay the regular 40 cent fare and 5 cents for a transfer.

The schedule from Cadillac Square is 6 to 11 p.m. Fridays and 12 to 11 p.m. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. From the ethnic festival site the schedule is 6:10 to 11:10 p.m. Fridays and 12:10 to 11:10 p.m. Saturday, Sundays and holidays.

Wright Brothers open at Squire Supper Club

Although the Wright Brothers look like they've just stepped off a stagecoach in Dodge City 100 years ago, that's where the resemblance ends.

And when the group opens for 6-day engagement at the Ramada Inn's Squire Supper Club and Lounge Monday evening, it will become obvious to those present that they are witnessing an unusual and talented group.

There music reflects the versatility of the group and spans everything from down-home, foot-stomping bluegrass to orchestrated ballads charted for symphonies, with varieties of Gospel, country rock and rock in between.

They emphasize strong vocal harmonies and appeal to all age groups, a fact that might account for the Wright Bros. Overland Stage Co. holding records weeks in 27 clubs.

Making up the group is C. Thomas Wright, lead vocal, guitar, and master of ceremonies; W. Timothy Wright, lead vocal and guitar and banjo; Ronald Perry, manager, producer and occasionally plays the harmonica; Rex Thomas, guitar; John McDowell III, lead vocal and guitar; Stephen R. Walker, lead vocal and percussion; David Nay, manager; Ken Meyer, sound engineer; Mark Jones, road concessions and sometime player of the clawhammer banjo; and Donna Nitterhouse, office manager.

The group has released two albums to date — "The World Renowned Memorabilia Box" and "Cornfield Cowboys."

The group will be performing at the supper club between 9 p.m. and 2 a.m. Monday through Saturday. The inn is located at I-94 and Merriman Road in Romulus. There is no cover charge or minimum order for the performances. For further information call 729-6300.

Superwalk '76

Walkers will be putting their best foot forward Saturday when the rescheduled Superwalk '76 of the Metropolitan Detroit March of Dimes gets underway at Belle Isle Casino at 8 a.m. and for Stony Creek at Eisenhower High School at the same time.

The Metropolitan Detroit March of Dimes reluctantly postponed the April event, when but the high winds, rain, cold and flooding made it impossible for the walk to take place.

Maxwell Gurman, executive director of the Metropolitan Detroit March of Dimes said: "We're going to have a great walk. We had to postpone the April event. As a health organization, we could not allow our supporters to participate in the extreme weather conditions that prevailed — even though so many were willing."

"Our volunteers, our emergency cars and communication units — all those wonderful people who help us by walking or sponsoring a walker will be with us."

Superwalk, a community event, is the largest walkathon happening in the United States.

Vernor's Ginger Ale is the sponsor this year and will provide its product along the way. Burger King will give a certificate for a free "Whopper" to all who complete the 20 miles, and superwalkers also will receive a certificate from Bob-Lo for a free boat trip with half-price rides available to them.

Charlie Sanders, Detroit Lion, and Norm Cash, former Tiger great, are co-chairmen of the Belle Isle walk. Jim Laslavic, Detroit Lion, Don Bemis, superintendent of Utica Public Schools and Ed O'Neil, Detroit Lion, are co-chairing the Stony Creek walk.

Flyer bus service for the Belle Isle walk is available at both Northland (Parking Lot K) and Eastland (Parking Lot 5) directly to the Casino on Sunday, at 7 a.m. and 8 a.m. for 75 cents exact fare. Buses will return at 4 and 5 p.m. to the shopping centers, again for 75 cents exact fare.

Information and registration available by calling the March of Dimes office at 864-6000.

2 HHS students look for 'trouble'

Two Huron High School students are competing today in the annual State Championship of the Plymouth Automotive Trouble Shooting Contest.

They are Harry Koszykowski, 18, of 19533 Savage Road, Huron Township and Mark W. Greca, 18, of 16721 Wayne Road, Romulus.

According to auto shop instructor Dennis L. Jacobson, the two won the right to compete after being selected as outstanding students and then scoring high grades in a written examination, administered to students wishing to participate in the contest.

The two will be asked to find pre-set mechanical problems in a car during competition at the Oakland Mall in Pontiac, under the sponsorship of Schultz Motors of Flat Rock.

Each year, more than 2,200 schools join with the Plymouth Division of the Chrysler Corp. to sponsor trouble shooting contests which could enable students to earn scholarships for furthering their education.

Camping rule set at parks

Michigan campers are being reminded by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) that visitor restrictions now are in effect at 18 state park and recreation area campgrounds.

The rule is designed to prevent overcrowding at popular Lower Peninsula campgrounds, according to a DNR spokesman.

The visitor ban is in effect through June 15 at Mears State Park near Pentwater and at Bay City State Park, and through June 25 at Pontiac Lake in Oakland County.

Other areas where the rule will be enforced through Labor Day include recreation areas at Brighton — Appleton Lake and Murray Lake camps — Livingston County — Pinckney's Crooked Lake and Glenbrook campgrounds — and Waterloo's Portage Lake and Green Lake campgrounds near Jackson.

Also affected are Hayes near Onsted, Holland — Lake Macatawa campground — in Ottawa County, Island Lake's Russell Woods campground near Brighton, Lakeport at Port Huron, Ludington's Pines, Cedar and Beechwood campgrounds, Metamora — Hadley in Lapeer County, Muskegon's Lake Michigan campground, Port Crescent in Huron County, Proud Lake near Milford, Silver Lake near Mears, Sleeper near Caseville, and South Higgins Lake near Roscommon.

Cancer clinic set

Two members of the Helping Hand Thrift Shop are hoping to offer residents peace of mind, when the shop's Operation Home Mission, in conjunction with the Michigan Cancer Foundation, provide a free Pap test program May 25 and 26. Florence Klein (left) and Judith Warren are spreading news of the checkup for cervical cancer throughout the Belleville-Romulus community. The clinic will be held at the Romulus Wesleyan Church, 37300 Goddard Road, Romulus, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. May 25 and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 26. Appointments and requests for transportation can be made by contacting the Thrift Shop at 941-5329. — ANP photo.

Cancer clinic set by Home Mission

Some 600 women in the metropolitan Detroit area die each year from cervical cancer, despite the fact that this form of cancer is one of the most easily detected and, if detected early, one of the easiest to treat.

The major reason for this tragic loss of life is that many women either have not had pap tests or have neglected to have it regularly.

A free pap test program will be offered on May 25 and 26 by the Michigan Cancer Foundation and sponsored by Operation Home Mission, under the auspices of the Helping Hand Thrift Shop.

The clinic will be held at the Romulus Wesleyan Church, 37300 Goddard Road, near five points, Romulus.

The clinic will be open from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on May 25 and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on May 26. The pap tests will be available by appointment only by calling the Helping Hand Thrift Shop at 941-5329, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Those persons in need of transportation should inform the shop of that when calling to make their appointments for the clinic.

At the clinic there also will be a film shown and a demonstration on the technique of breast self-examination.

Hiking day set at park

AUTO FACTS

By Chester Kosin

According to experts, an increasingly attractive alternative to the conventional automobile power plant is the rotary engine — also called the Wankel engine, after Felix Wankel, the German engineer who developed and patented the first successful version. Dispensing with separate cylinders, pistons, valves and crankshaft, the rotary applies power directly to the transmission. Its construction allows it to provide the power of a conventional engine that is twice its size and weight, and has twice as many parts.

Replacement parts for engines of all types are available at KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster. We carry quality parts for all foreign and domestic cars. We also have a full line of tools and equipment you need to repair your own car. All kinds of repair service is handled in our complete machine shop — we turn brake drums, do valve work, and rebuild engines. Visit KOSIN'S, the "House of a Million Parts," for everything you need to keep your car running smoothly and efficiently. Call us at 563-3894. We are open daily from 8 A.M. until 8 P.M., and on Saturdays until 5 P.M.

AUTO FACT: The addition of combustion chambers increases the power of a rotary engine.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus does hereby petition the Governor of the State of Michigan and the Legislature to take appropriate and necessary steps to assure the demise of H.B. 6010 (in that it is a creature whose appetite would devour incentive for industrial and commercial growth in the outlying areas of the State).

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the Labor Unions of our State be petitioned to join in the fight to put to rest the creature H.B. 6010, in that at least fifty (50 percent) percent of their brothers and sisters who reside and work in these outlying areas would be affected.

BE IT FINALLY RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be forwarded to the attention of Governor William G. Milliken, Members of the State Legislature, Senator William Faust, State Representatives Edward Mahalak and Gary Owen, Michigan Union Leaders and surrounding communities of Wayne County.

RESOLUTION 76-368

WHEREAS: The Jondahl Proposal, if adopted, would remove status of offenses from the jurisdiction of the Juvenile Court and place jurisdiction for the disciplinary action under the Department of Social Services; and

WHEREAS: The Department of Social Services is presently understaffed and overworked, it is inconceivable to assume that the quality and or quantity of attention juveniles committing status offenses require could be rendered; and

WHEREAS: The Juvenile Court System is designed and long-experienced in the prudent administration of discipline where same is required and the Department of Social Services would be assuming an entirely new role without the benefit of like experience; and it would appear to the City of Romulus that such a move would only contribute an additional blow to our crippled social structure and more significantly, the family structure; and

WHEREAS: The Jondahl Proposal continues to slice away at the social and family structure by drastically altering the historic responsibilities placed with both juvenile and adult or child and parent; and

WHEREAS: The Jondahl Proposal is a flagrant example of irresponsibility, in that it proposes to eliminate certain juvenile responsibilities, responsibility to the home and home authority (parent or guardian) as our entire Legislative and Judicial System has been established to assure that every member of our society is responsive to the laws of the land. Every member of our society, be it juvenile or adult, is mandated to comply with certain authoritative restraints and the imposition of parental rules and regulations are, in fact, health training devices and should be encouraged.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus does hereby set forth its inalterable opposition to enactment of the Jondahl Proposal.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus does hereby implore, if not demand; that the Governor and the State Legislature of our great State exercise the responsibilities placed therein by the electorate of this State and defeat passage of the Jondahl Proposal.

WHEREAS: These actions not only affect the City of Romulus but other communities within the State; and

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus' citizens have displayed their disapproval of such conduct.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: By the City Council of the City of Romulus on behalf of the citizens of the City of Romulus, that it does hereby implore, if not demand, that further and continuing action be taken by the Governor of the State of Michigan, the Attorney General of the State of Michigan, the members of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, Prosecuting Attorneys, and the Michigan State Legislature, to bring about reform.

Seniors' council sets priorities for service

The Senior Citizens Coordinating Council of five Western Wayne County communities recently set up priorities and goals to make better use of the services available to senior citizens in the communities. The council represents senior citizens in Belleville, and Romulus and Van Buren, Huron and Sumpter townships.

The following goals were set:

- Transportation and escort services for senior citizens, including convalescent home residents.

- Home health services, including both physical and mental health.
- More home-delivered meals.
- Communication — an outreach program for those in no organized group.

- Home chore and maintenance for senior citizens who are unable to perform these tasks.

Marie Debuyscher, of the Romulus Recreation Department, suggested that the Romulus Drop-in Center be used as a senior citizens facility. She said senior citizens should run all activities, including a nutrition site.

"Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar than MERIT, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste."

—American Institute of Consumer Opinion

Extensive taste-testing with thousands of smokers shows 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivers more taste than higher tar brands.

The bottom line was conclusive: In a series of taste tests conducted for MERIT by the American Institute of Consumer Opinion, smokers from all across the country judged MERIT to have more flavor than five leading low tar cigarette brands.*

What's really startling—and of major importance to all smokers—is that MERIT has less tar than these five brands.

Less tar. Yet more taste.

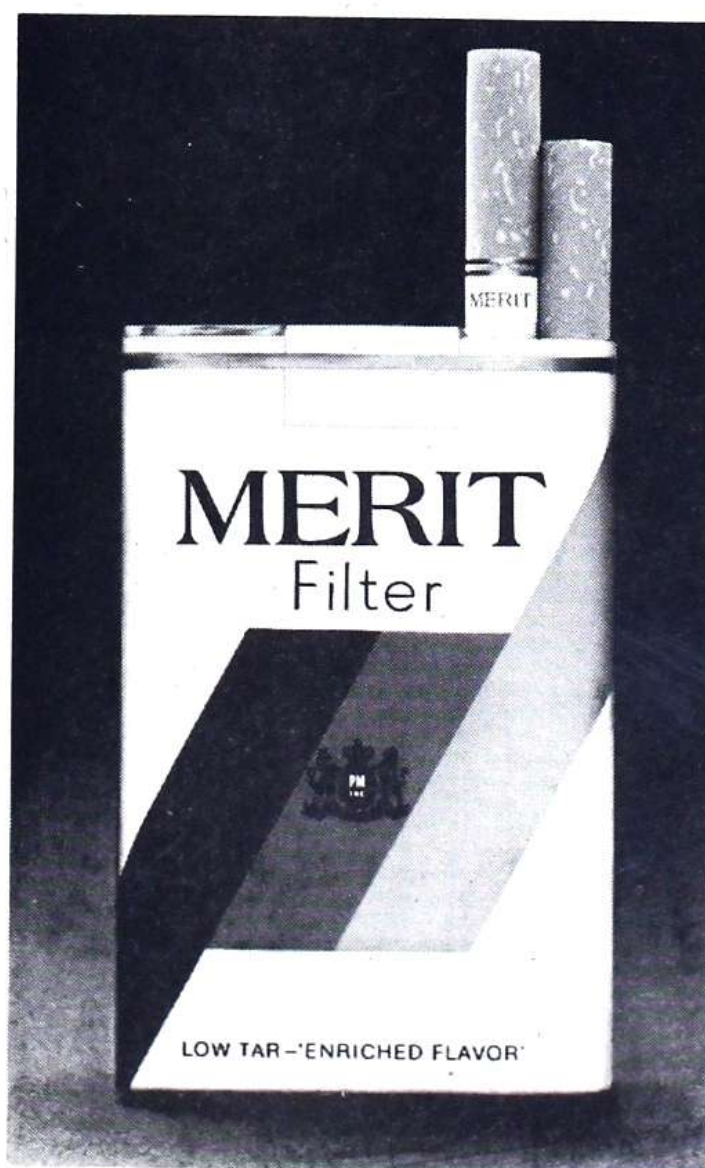

That's the report on a remarkable new taste process called 'Enriched Flavor.' A way to pack tobacco with extra flavor without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

'Enriched Flavor.' It's exclusive to MERIT. The cigarette with only 9 mg. tar, one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

MERIT MENTHOL is packed with 'Enriched Flavor' too. And in similar tests, 9 mg. MERIT MENTHOL was reported to deliver as much—or more—taste than the 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar menthol brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now smoke the cigarette.

MERIT.

Member cities ask PCHA to skip involvement with bill

The Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) has been asked by representatives of Dearborn Heights and River Rouge not to get involved in the passage of Senate Bill 1061. The request came during a recent PCHA meeting.

The bill which has passed the Senate and is now in the House of Representatives, changes the manner in which elections may be called for the purpose of assessing millage for new plant construction in hospital authorities in Michigan.

Adoption of the resolution was tabled, and the board directed chairman Donald J. Pizzimemti, to send a letter to all PCHA member communities to provide all the facts concerning the measure.

Pizzimemti also appointed an executive search committee to seek a replacement for Karl S. Klicka, M.D., the current executive director. Klicka will retire on December 31 after a little more than 10 years' service.

Also during the meeting Pizzimemti instructed the personnel committee to move as quickly as possible in selecting an administrator for the new Heritage Hospital in Taylor.

The hospital is approximately six months ahead of its construction schedule, and based on current progress, should begin accepting patients in February 1977.

PCHA now operates four hospitals: Annapolis in Wayne, Beyer Memorial in Ypsilanti, Outer Drive in Lincoln Park, and Seaway in Trenton.

Alcoholism detection to be topic

The pay-offs in early detection of alcoholism through cooperation of management and labor will highlight the annual meeting of the National Council on Alcoholism - Greater Detroit Area (NCA-GDA) May 24 in the Hyatt Regency Hotel, Fairlane Center.

Wilfred D. MacDonnell, chairman and chief executive officer of Kelsey-Hayes Corp., will be the principal speaker. His firm has pioneered in cooperative programs to identify and assist the alcoholic employee.

Tickets for the event can be obtained through the NCA-GDA office at 6131 West Outer Drive or by calling 864-4065.

The NCA-GDA has inaugurated an intensive campaign in the Greater Detroit area to encourage business and industry to join with labor leadership to provide programs like that offered by Kelsey-Hayes.

Duane L. Block, M.D., medical director of Ford Motor Company and president of NCA-GDA, said alcoholism costs the nation's industry an estimated $15 billion annually. Experience indicates early identification of the disease in the office or workshop is one of the most effective ways of minimizing its effects, he said.

BELLEVILLE & YPSILANTI STORES ONLY

Heading for a victory

Eyeing the bar suspiciously is Belleville's Al Russell who clears 12 feet to provide Coach Dave Medley's Tigers a needed win in the pole vault. However, despite Russell's effort, Belleville was left on a shortend of an 88-44 Suburban 8 Conference track decision against Dearborn.

Wayne '9' grabs conference lead

Stringing together a 5-game winning streak, Wayne Memorial climbed to the top of the Great Lakes 8 Conference baseball standings last week.

Blazer's 3 wins wasted

Coming up flat on the track against Dearborn cost Belleville thinclads an 88-44 setback in the Suburban 8 Conference last week.

Despite Mike Blazer's triple victory, Coach Dave Medley's Tigers were no match for the defending conference champs.

"We gave them some points," Medley said, "but, in general, we just were flat against them."

Blazer won the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.1, then posted a 20 seconds effort in the lows and capped the afternoon off with a first place in the 220-yard dash where he was clocked in the winning time of 22.7.

Belleville will be busy this week. The Tigers host Trenton today (Wednesday) for their fifth league meeting, then travel to Ypsilanti on Saturday to compete in the Class A state regionals.

Meet results: Dearborn 88, Belleville 44

The defending league co-champs knocked off Monroe 5-4 to grab sole possession of first and also posted a 4-3 victory over Fordson and an 8-4 decision over Taylor Truman.

"We're slowly playing the kind and caliber of baseball that I know we're capable of," said Wayne Coach Jim Chronowski. "Our pitching is coming around and the hitting is there."

Monroe rallied for three runs in the bottom of the seventh off of winning pitcher Pat Bledsoe who needed help from Jim Canfield to stop the Trojans.

Canfield, who received credit for the save, threw six pitches and got the final out on a groundout to Pat Sheridan.

Wayne struck for all of its runs in the fifth inning as Mito Idunate drilled a two-run home run with Rick Pittman aboard. Mito's feat was duplicated by Sheridan whose homer chased home Mike Melcher.

Bill Crews, safe on a dropped fly ball, advanced to second, stole third and scored on a throwing error accounted for Wayne's fifth run.

A three-run home run by Crews, scoring Melcher and Sheridan in the sixth, lifted Wayne past arch-rival Fordson earlier in the week.

Sheridan drilled a solo homer in the opening frame for Wayne's other Wayne.

Fordson got to winning pitcher Bledsoe for a run in the third and the Dearbonites went ahead briefly in the fifth when they tallied twice.

Don Johnson pitched eight of the nine innings in chalking up the 8-4 extra inning affair with Taylor Truman. Wayne blew a 4-0 last-inning lead as Truman rallied for four runs in the seventh to tie it up.

Wayne came back in its ninth to break the deadlock with four runs. Mark Grider's two-run homer with Pittman on in the seventh highlighted Wayne's attack.

Tim Clark walked to force in one run and Melcher singled in a pair of runs to cap the Zebras' attack in the ninth. An error allowed Wayne's fourth run to score in that inning.

Can Glenn win track title at Ypsi?

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Can unbeaten Westland John Glenn capture the Class A Track & Field regional championships at Ypsilanti?

That question will be answered Saturday when a field of about 22 teams assemble at Ypsilanti for the annual Michigan High School Athletic Association classic.

Some prep prognosticators consider Ypsilanti as the toughest regional in the state this year. The host, laden with talent this season, Adrian, and John Glenn are among those established as the teams to beat.

Most area Class A teams, including Belleville, Livonia Franklin, Churchill, Wayne Memorial, Plymouth Salem will compete at the regional in Ypsilanti.

The field events will get underway at 10 a.m.

An athlete must finish in the top three of an event in order to qualify for the state finals which will be held on June 5 in Grand Rapids. If an athlete meets a state qualifying time he may also compete in the state finals.

Meanwhile, John Glenn captured the 1976 running of the Davison Relays, adding the third gem in as many weekends to its track glory. The Westlanders have won the Wayne Invitational and Belleville Relays on subsequent weekends.

Coach Barry Basel's Rockets took four first places including the long jump relay, 880-yard relay, the sprint relay and the mile relay.

Terry Bixler, one of the finest all-around athletes in Glenn's history, teamed with Frank DeLuca to place first in the long jump relays. The two combined for a 39 feet, 3 1/2 inch total.

Bixler, DeLuca, Cliff Williamson

Livonia Franklin's plan to derail Westland John Glenn's Northwest Suburban Conference track title express last week didn't materialize as the Westlanders won a convincing 77-57 decision to remain undefeated in the league.

Glenn is the team to beat at the conference meet.

"It was a very good meet," said Franklin's Bob Holmes, commenting on the Glenn confrontation. "We figured that we would have to and Jeff Couturier were Glenn's winning combination in the 880-yard relay. The foursome was clocked in 1:32.4.

Glenn went with Dave Johnson, DeLuca, Couturier and Kelly Frost in the sprint medley relay and the quartet responded with the winning time of 2:32.0.

The Westlanders' winning mile relay team was made up of Williamson, Johnson, Frost and Couturier who were clocked in 3:29.7.

The Johnson brothers - Dave and Mark - teamed with Curt Cretal and Frost for a second place in the 2-mile relay. They had an 8:13.1 run.

Glenn garnered 56 of the points to place ahead of Swartz Creek which had 50. Trailing the leaders were Davison with 39, Clarkston with 37 and Grand Blanc with 34.

"We're happy to win this one," commented Basel. "We went into the meet kind of blindly because we didn't know very much about the teams up there and the scores weren't posted until the last event."

"And, since we weren't particularly sharp, it's kind of a surprise to see we won it," Basel added.

Glenn wins a 'big one' win all three relays in order to win the meet.

"However, we lost the 880-yard relay by one foot and the mile relay by at least four yards and that was the difference," he noted.

Glenn took nine of the 16 first places with Terry Bixler supplying two of those. Bixler's 20 feet, 4 inches leap gave him a victory in the long jump and his 10.7 effort was the best in the 100-yard dash.

While waiting inside the camouflaged blind I must have dozed off. When I woke up the ruffed grouse I wanted to photograph was pacing back and forth on his drumming log and talking to a flock of other birds.

"It's time we birds got some recognition," he said, waving his wings for effect. "You all know 'One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest' won a flock of Academy Awards the other night on TV, which is a feather in our cap. But we birds still make a poor showing compared to the animals. 'Yogi Bear has his own TV show and how about 'The Pink Panther' and 'Bambi' not to mention 'Tiger Baseball.' Even that Australian army officer, 'Captain Kangaroo' has a show and how about 'Leave It To Beaver.' There's 'The Partridge Family,' come to think of it, about a bunch of singing grouse but we need drama. Wonder if TV would go for a show we could call 'Little Grouse on the Prairie?'" he mused.

"Good idea!" cawed the Crow perched nearby. "We might think about some sports shows, too, for us pro athlete birds. I could star in the 'Crow Bowlers Tour.'" And, chirped in the Red-Winged Blackbird, "What's wrong with me starring in 'Red-Wing Hockey?'"

That's when the Junco trilled, "I've always wanted to appear in a rural TV program about a bird living along a railroad track. It could be called 'Petticoat Junco.'" The Mourning Dove quit being mournful long enough to suggest a romantic, humor program to be called 'Dove, American Style' and an afternoon soap opera, 'Dove of Life.'"

From another tree the little Screech Owl advanced a new idea. "Let's consider me in the starring role of a comedy about a very biased bird who always turns out to be wrong. I think 'Owl in the Family' would be a good name for the program." (Nobody else gave a hoot, though.)

The Gull swam in from the river then to suggest himself for the lead in a detective story to be called "Gullumbó" or perhaps another story of a group marooned on "Gulligan's Island." "Or how about a travel series we could call 'Gulliver's Travels?'" he ventured.

Robin came bobbing along then. "Here's one I could do about a family of birds marooned on an island. We could call it 'Swiss Family Robin's Son.' Or maybe one on a bird that fights crime — 'Batman and Robin.' I would be perfect for either lead part." The Starling figured he should star in a science-fiction program, 'Starling Trek.'

A Nightcrawler peeked out of the ground and suggested a soap opera called 'As the Worm Turns,' while a nearby Snake opted for a game show to be called, 'Let's Snake a Deal.' "How about a detective show starring me?" asked a Bumble Bee. "It could be called 'Ellery Queen Bee.'" To which the Grouse thundered a "Buzz off, all three of you! We need birds."

About then somebody suggested a really spectacular program to be called the "Six Million Dollar Bird," which they all agreed would bring in a heck of a lot of bird seed. They all got into such an argument over who would get the lead role, though, that the ruckus woke me up and I discovered it was all just a wild dream. At least, I think it was.

A triplicate

Breezing to an easy victory in the low hurdles, Belleville's Mike Blazer accounted for three of the Tigers six events against Dearborn, the defending Suburban 8 Conference champ. Blazer captured the low hurdles in 20 seconds and also picked up the high hurdles and the 220-yard dash. Blazer will try to qualify for the state Class A state finals on Saturday when he and his teammates travel to Ypsilanti.

Wayne eyes Fordson as title stepping-stone

Wayne Memorial and Fordson, two undefeated Great Lakes 8 Conference girls' track teams, will collide today and the collision could produce the next conference champ.

That's the word from Wayne Coach Floyd Carter whose Zebras have a 5-0 league and a 7-1 over-all record.

"Our meet with them (Fordson) could decide the title," Carter said. "If we beat them they'd have to finish ahead of us at the league meet to salvage a tie."

Meanwhile, Wayne prepares to complete in the Class A regional girls track meet at Ypsilanti. The meet will be held Saturday.

Riverview was Wayne's latest victim as the Zebras trampled the downriver club 80-38.

Great Lakes 8 track powers in showdown

This is the week that Wayne Memorial track coach Ernie Righetti has been waiting for.

What lies ahead for Righetti and his thinclads is Fordson, the defending Great Lakes 8 Conference track champ. And, at 4 p.m., Thursday, the two will meet at the Dearborn high school's field to decide which will be favored to win the title.

"We have been eagerly waiting for this week," said Righetti. "If we can get past them (Fordson), then I feel we have a good shot at the league title."

Righetti's remarks came after the Zebras coasted past Taylor Truman 92-40 which gave the winners a 4-1 Great Lakes record. They had earlier beaten Riverview 85-47.

Wayne captured 10 of the 16 first places from Truman and two of those were contributions by hurdler Brett Hansen who cleared the highs in 15.9, then set the pace for the lows (20.7).

Kevin Miller won the two-mile run for the Zebras, establishing a Truman track record at 9:55.0 en route to the victory.

Though he finished second in the discus, Wayne's Don Gotham set a school record in the event with a toss of 130 feet. He lost to Truman's Dale Pershon who won with a 135 feet, 3 inch performance.

Churchill stays perfect in track

Livonia Churchill kept a firm grip on its Western Six Conference track crown as Coach Fred Price's Chargers overwhelmed Walled Lake Western 93-39.

It was Churchill's third straight conference victory and eighth in nine starts this season.

The Livonians amassed 12 out of a possible 16 first places against Western with the former nipping Churchill at the wire to take the 880-yard relay. The Chargers came back to win both the mile and 440-yard relays.

Price anticipates, "one whale of a regional" at Ypsilanti where some of the top powers in the state will be Saturday.

"Ypsi, the two Ann Arbor high schools - Huron and Pioneer - along with John Glenn are among the finest prep teams I have seen in some time," Price said.

Franklin wins 2 from East, slips into 1st

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

The delayed showdown between challenger Livonia Franklin and defending Northwest Suburban Conference baseball champ, Garden City East, ended in a Franklin sweep Friday with the Patriots taking the first game 11-1 and the nightcap 4-2.

"This puts us in the driver's seat," said Franklin coach Ron Hellier whose team has now won 12 in a row. "But the title race is far from over. We still have Thurston and North Farmington to worry about."

Al Castrodale checked East with a four-hitter in the opener and his teammates backed him up with 13 hits and flawless defense.

In earning his fifth personal triumph, Castrodale chalked up five strikeouts and walked three.

Greg Emery was charged with the loss. He lasted 4 and one-third innings before Coach Billy Joe Young turned to reliever Topalian.

"Our kids had more confidence in themselves that I had," Hellier said. "Most of these boys played on our championship Class A football team and know how to handle themselves under pressure."

Franklin took a 2-1 lead in the third when Jerry Pollard singled home Larry Urban and Nelson Yanick. The Patriots made it a 5-1 game in the fourth when Steve Tresik walked, moved to second as Darrel Gunter's grounder was booted. Then, Urban and Yanick each cracked RBI singles and Castrodale belted a run-scoring sacrifice fly.

Franklin put four more runs on the board in the fifth as Pollard singled to lead off. Tim Hollandsworth singled and Tresik came through with a base hit, driving in one run. Darrel Gunter got to Emery for a single and that brought home two more runners and Phil Longeway and Castrodale also connected, scoring one run each.

Hollandsworth's triple chased Ken Scarpace home with Franklin's sixth inning run and Urban's single drove home Castrodale for the Patriots' final run.

Mike Flood and Mark Williams teamed up on a five-hitter to give Franklin the nightcap. Flood worked 4 and two-thirds innings, struck out four and walked three to pad his personal record to 4-1 on the season. Mark threw the first 2 and one-third innings, gave up the two runs, struck out two and walked three.

Franklin scored twice in the first inning on singles by Ken Scarpace, Pollard and Hollandsworth, then they pulled off a double steal to score the second run.

The Patriots built up a 4-0 second inning lead as walks to Yanick and Pollard and a single by Scarpace loaded the bases for Hollandsworth who sliced a fly ball to right field which led to a two-run error.

John Glenn snapped its 5-game Northwest Suburban Conference losing streak as Terry Butler and Craig Duncan combined on an 8-hitter in a 7-3 victory over North Farmington.

Butler started and went 3 and one-third innings before Coach Norm Hoenes called on Duncan who earned the save.

Glenn struck early, putting two runs on the scoreboard in the first inning as Kevin Sanders was safe on an error, advanced to second with John Stafford's single, Mike Bednarski's sacrifice moved up both runners who scored when Mark Grabowski singled.

The Westlanders made it a 4-1 ball game in the fourth as Eric Borsvold's single drove in Dan Diadiun and Todd DeLuca who had singled and walked respectively.

In the sixth, Jim Daniels walked, Diadiun sacrificed and DeLuca also drew a base on balls, setting the stage for Borsvold who singled in one run. Sanders' second hit of the game produced the final two Glenn runs.

Wayne Memorial rallied for two runs in the bottom of the seventh to stop Glenn 5-4 in their rematch. Glenn took a 4-3 lead in the last inning but lost it when Wayne's Mike Melcher hammered a home run off of starting pitcher Jeff Ludwig to tie the game at 4-4.

Ludwig was removed for reliever Craig Duncan who gave up the game-winning double to Bill Crews who batted in Pat Sheridan. Sheridan got aboard on an infield error.

Jim Canfield went the distance for Wayne, striking out 13 Glenn batters - the highest number of whiffs by a single Wayne pitcher this season. Canfield also walked five.

Wayne scored one run in the third when Bob Bako connected for his first home run of the season and a two-run homer by Melcher with Bako aboard accounted for the other Wayne runs.

Glenn scored twice in the fifth when Borsvold was safe on an error, moved to second with Stafford's single and came home on a two-run single by Grabowski.

Cherry Hill, out of the Tri-River Conference title picture, was blanked by Taylor Kennedy 4-0 and Garden City West 7-1 after winning a "wild one," 11-10 from Southgate.

Against Kennedy, pitcher Mark Lipinski turned in his best performance of the season but didn't get enough hitting support. He struck out three and walked two in throwing a four-hitter.

Kennedy's Tom Towry also tossed a four-hitter and notched eight strikeouts and walked two.

Jim Harrison lasted 2 and one-third innings against Cherry Hill who scored four times in the third to leap to a 6-0 advantage. Harrison was relieved by Tim Rollins who went the rest of the way.

Cherry Hill averted the shutout with a run in the fourth produced when Harrison led off with a single, advanced to second as Mark Barron walked and scored on a single by Mike Nyenhuis.

The Spartans scored five times in the top of the seventh to pull out the Southgate game and post its third Tri-River Conference win in nine starts.

Rollins was credited with the victory in relief of Chuck Sosnowski who was routed in the third when the Sabers got to him for four runs.

Lipinski led off the seventh with a single and raced to second when Brian Shuster also singled. Brian Funke then struck out and Nyenhuis came through with a double, driving in one run.

Mark Barrons fanned and with two away, Rollins helped his cause with a two-run base hit. Harrison kept the rally alive with a single and when Rich Rimmel was hit by a wild pitch that loaded the bases for Sosnowski who walked, forcing in a run.

Lipinski also walked which produced the final Spartan run of the game.

Lipinski had an excellent day at the plate, getting three for four. Rollins and Harrison each picked up two hits in the Spartans' 11-hit assault.

Livonia Churchill fell from the unbeaten ranks and from first place in the Western 6 Conference as Northville stunned Coach Rog Frayer's Chargers 7-2.

The 880-yard relay was a close one to call as Dearborn (at left) appears to have the edge, but photos can be deceptive. The event was awarded to Belleville as anchorman Joe Abraham heads into the wire a

Romulus runners whip Willow Run

Al Wilkerson's track time table apparently is ahead of schedule.

Wilkerson, in his second year as Romulus' head coach, figured that his Eagles would find it difficult winning this season but his thineclads have responded with two victories.

Their latest victim is Willow Run, a team that crumbled 74-54 to Romulus' runners.

The Eagles took 11 of the 16 first places with Rodney Summers counting two of them. Summers leaped 5 feet, 10 inches in the high jump and also cleared 10 feet, 6 inches in the pole vault for his victories.

The victory gave Romulus a 2-4 won-lost record. They'll compete in the Class A Regional at Southgate Schafer on Saturday. Wilkerson feels that hurdlers Phil Bonam and Duane Lee have an excellent chance to survive regional competition and advance to the state finals.
